Summary

To the development of the Internet since the great promotion of the commodity electronic trading market, commodity online transactions gradually flourished. Commodity electronic trading platform is established in order to make the rapid circulation of goods, including: metal, agricultural products, energy, chemicals, property rights, financial derivatives, etc., to further promote social and economic development. However, due to a variety of non-standard exchanges everywhere, the variety of listed transactions varied, the lack of scientific arguments, there is no physical delivery, etc., there are illegal speculation and excessive speculation, as well as financial security and trading system is not standardized risk.

From the 2008 currency produced so far, has produced tens of thousands of digital currency, all the digital currency in the technology is basically the same, relying on the block chain technology to achieve a timely transfer, and to ensure that the digital currency bill transparent and issued Total fixed. But return to the origin, and now every day issued thousands of new coins, how can guarantee the value of money?

The AIE Rights Chain, through the combination of commodity trading platform technology and block chain technology, enables everyone to participate in the chain-based, decentralized trading market. Everyone can sell goods through blocks to create a convenient, credible, autonomous Of the transaction market, through the masses to participate in the implementation of practical applications, to achieve the real value of the block chain of real economic services. The development of a unique physical delivery business, and effectively meet the needs of the market. Issued tokens based on the total constant, through the constant application of the AIE tokens to all aspects of spot transactions, the future of the user base will be more and more, continue to expand the breadth and depth of the AIE tokens market, the future AIE platform And tokens will be applied to all aspects of physical services, for commodity trading to provide a strong help.

background

2.1 the existence of digital assets

Digital assets (digital money) so far, we are always worried about the problem is the value of digital money, the traditional currency because the country as a credit endorsement, which has a real value, but the digital assets who do endorsement for its credit The At the beginning we are tired of the transfer of traditional money cumbersome, so investing in digital money, from the beginning of the private transactions, to the exchange transactions, to mining transactions, but if everyone is selling, and the currency itself has no application value, then To the final acquisition of the people, may be collectors, and the face of tens of thousands of digital currency, collectors may become the final answer Pan Man.

2.2 Domestic equity trading platform

Commodity exchanges are now blooming everywhere, but the norms of the exchange is very small, many domestic traders and investors often do not find a standardized exchange, and the variety of listed companies varied, lack of scientific argument, no physical delivery, etc., there are illegal speculation and Excessive speculation, transaction finance security and trading system is not standardized risk.

2.3 solve the token value and trading platform norms ideas

The AIE Rights Chain was created by several industry elites and has extensive experience in the block technology and commodity trading platform. Through the block chain book technology and the original exchange technology, with the regulation, the development of personalized physical delivery business. Issued tokens due to a constant total, through the user continues to increase, continue to expand the market and the depth of the tokens to achieve the currency continue to deflation, the value continued to grow.

Project Benefits

As long as the world has production, there must be material problems, you need a commodity trading platform.

The AIE platform covers all merchandise services to meet market demand.

Virtual currency from 2008 Bitcoin to the present, according to coinmarketcap.com statistics, virtual currency market value has reached nearly 100 billion US dollars, but did not exchange the physical delivery platform. The AIE equity chain is the first platform to achieve real estate delivery. At present, the AIE rights chain market is not a competitor, the market prospect is huge, the user group covers all the need to exchange the interests of the manufacturers and individual investors, anyone can chain products through the chain.

AIE interest chain is generated to meet market demand.

Trading mechanism diagram:

Issued AIE tokens: a total of 200 million constant, never issued.

Through the continuous expansion of the number of exchanges, and constantly expand the user base, constantly on the line of major virtual

Intended assets exchange, and continuously improve the breadth and depth of the market, to achieve the value of AIE tokens continue to deflation and continued growth. In the future, based on the service industry, the use of AIE tokens is becoming more and more efficient, and it will help to solve the capital transfer and commodity trading business in the future.

Project core competitiveness, from the traditional financial industry for many years the marketing team, we have a mature business system, down-to-earth marketing department.

After the success of any virtual currency ICO project, if there is no marketing profit, no actual results, then nothing is, AIE project team for many years engaged in marketing and commodity trading platform marketing team, team own user data, transaction data, marketing program , A very mature business system, a project to protect the core of the protection.

3.1 profit margins

Users in the transaction and the release of goods when the need for fees, we provide its own platform to five thousand two-way bid.

According to the background of its own platform statistics, an ordinary Fuzhou Commodity Exchange, the daily fee output of about 10 million yuan (including the exchange of its own marketing output, an agent marketing output and two agency marketing Out of the scale of the company to 20 people in Fuzhou, the monthly output fee of the lowest in about 200 million yuan, the daily output fee of 66,000 yuan or so.

AIE trading platform after the establishment of its own sales will be greater than 200 people, the sum of the number of agents and agents will be greater than 2,000 people, the total number of two agents sales will be greater than 20,000 people. Optimistic estimate of the future AIE exchange daily output fee of 74 million yuan or so.

3.2 experience and confidence

Project in addition to its own software development team, and cooperation with a number of software development company to ensure that testing and testing after two months on the line.

The key to the project's profit comes from our own core marketing tools.

The AIE project team has a wealth of experience in commodity trading platform marketing.

Marketing team are engaged in years of commodity trading platform and financial investment industry.

The team has its own customer data, transaction data, rich online, offline sales, professional marketing talent, the system of training programs, the project can be achieved on-line all-round marketing.

3.3 Project Future

As long as there is in the production of the world, regardless of rice, corn, wheat, stainless steel, stainless steel, toys, etc., commodity market supplies will always exist.

1848 CBOT was established, in 1865 began to have a commodity trading platform, has been a hundred years of development. Because the market is always there, the value of the AIE rights chain is always there.

Through the service entity economy as the basis, to achieve the core value of AIE trading platform.

The future will be on-line own mall, to achieve convenient spot retail.

By expanding the number of construction exchanges, the distribution of platform nodes, the expansion of field projects, and constantly expand the user base, to ensure that the market breadth and depth of AIE tokens to achieve the value of AIE tokens.

With a huge market for real economy, the project can help both the real economy and the value of tokens.

With our own experience, and enough patience, and struggling to achieve the future value of the rights chain.

Repurchase mechanism

AIE platform repurchase mechanism using artificial intelligence management and trading platform financial transparency mechanism.

The platform will be real-time display of the exchange fee income, the whole no manual participation.

Based on the artificial intelligence repurchase mechanism, regardless of the number of circulation AIE tokens, regardless of the market price, artificial intelligence platform will use 50% of the proceeds to buy back AIE tokens.

Capital repurchase time for the daily liquidation time, in the final settlement of the time, artificial intelligence will automatically use 50% fee income to repurchase, the whole open and transparent.
